

Monday 12th September

Point - ~~z~~

Evidence

Analyse

Reader response

Link

Model example:

adverb

connective [↓]
~~Initially~~, the writer powerfully conveys Judith's struggles through her hallucinations. The quote 'The walls appear to be bulging inwards' suggests that emphasise the severity of her illness. The verb bulging suggests the walls are getting bigger and moving closer to Judith and to her it seems very real. As a reader, we become concerned that Judith's health is deteriorating.

Initially, the writer cleverly portrays that Judith is distressed because of the hallucinations. The quote that suggests this is 'her parents' bed, in the corner, with the and twist like serpents' this displays that she feels suffocated and trapped. The word serpents suggest that she feels as though a snake has surrounded her which therefore shows she is suffering. As a reader, we become afraid as Judith is in extreme pain.

Monday 12th September

Point - ~~is~~

Evidence

Analyse

Reader response

Link

Model example:

adverb

connective [↓]
~~Initially~~, the writer powerfully conveys Judith's struggles through her hallucinations. The quote 'The walls appear to be bulging inwards' suggests that emphasise the severity of her illness. The verb bulging suggests the walls are getting bigger and moving closer to Judith and to her it seems very real. As a reader, we become concerned that Judith's health is deteriorating.

Initially, the writer cleverly portrays that Judith is distressed because of the hallucinations. The quote that suggests this is 'her parents' bed, in the corner, with the and twist like serpents' this displays that she feels suffocated and trapped. The word serpents suggest that she feels as though a snake has surrounded her which therefore shows she is suffering. As a reader, we become afraid as Judith is in extreme pain.